Financial Performance: The Company booked net income amounted IDR 63.906 billion in 2010, decreasing from IDR 466 billion booked in 2009.

Brief History: ELNUSA is present amidst Indonesia's flourish oil and gas business development. Born as the Indonesia's oil and gas pioneers' idea, in 1969, ELNUSA was initially a subsidiary of PT Pertamina. ELNUSA started its operation as a provider of electronic communications equipment, ship navigation and radar system for oil and gas carriers in Indonesia.

ELNUSA's long business journey has encountered various challenges, yet it has managed to stand still surfing the oil and gas business turmoil in 1980s and survived the 1998's economic crisis as well. ELNUSA, along with its subsidiaries has turned into an integrated oil and gas service provider which has received customer's remarkable trusts. Not only has trust been given by PT Pertamina, the parent company, it has also been delivered by a couple of prominent multi-national partner companies such as Chevron, Total EP, Shell, ConocoPhillips, BP and so on.

The demand for business development has made ELNUSA undertake necessary reposition. On October 2007, four of its subsidiaries which were the back-bone of the company's oil and gas service business were merged into the parent company along with a horizontal merge which was intended to strengthen the main business. This is a reposition which was meant to materialize ELNUSA as a business player which focuses on upstream integrated oil & gas services.

The new position has made it certain for ELNUSA fully confident into the upstream integrated oil and gas service business both in domestic and overseas markets. The trust it has earned and its commitment to putting quality excellence first priority along with its extensive experience in oil and gas business has become ELNUSA's major capital in running the growing integrated oil and gas business, in response to the stronger price of oil and gas in the international market.
