Financial Performance: The net profit at the company in 2010 is IDR 63 billion, decreased from IDR 157 billion in the previous year.

Brief History: PT. Sorini Corporation Tbk (the Company) was established in 1983 in Surabaya and in 1992 was publicly listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange. The Company produces and supplies starch and starch derivatives products such as sorbitol, dextrose monohydrate, glucose syrup and maltodextrin to various consumer goods industries.

In 1985 the Company commenced building its plant in Kecamatan Gempol Pasuruan in East Java and started its commercial operation in 1987. Over the years, The Company had added and increased the production capacity of Sorbitol and diversified into production of other starch derivatives products. This has led Sorini to be the biggest sorbitol and starch derivatives producer in Asia Pacific.

To serve strategic Japanese market, in 1994 the Company took a strategic step by establishing PT. Sorini Towa Berlian Corporation ("STBC") located in East Java, a joint venture with Towa Chemical Industry Co. Ltd. Japan and Mitsubishi Corporation Japan to produce sorbitol liquid and powder. Through this venture, Sorini became the first Company to produce Sorbitol Powder in Indonesia.

To improve its competitiveness, in 1993 the Company established PT Saritanam Pratama located in Ponorogo, East Java, to produce tapioca starch, the raw material for both Sorini and STBC with capacity of 100 tons per day of starch. This capacity was doubled in 1998. The Company products are used in the manufacturing of Polyol & sweeteners, paper, MSG, food, and other industrial products.

Our long term strategy and recent focus has been on growth in Agro-based business and therefore in 2007 we re-named ourselves from PT Sorini Corporation Tbk to PT Sorini Agro Asia Corporindo Tbk. This shows our intention to position our company as Agri- Resources Company with manufacturing integration. Green colour in our identity shows the emphasis on environment friendly operations.
